ABOUT SRIJAT

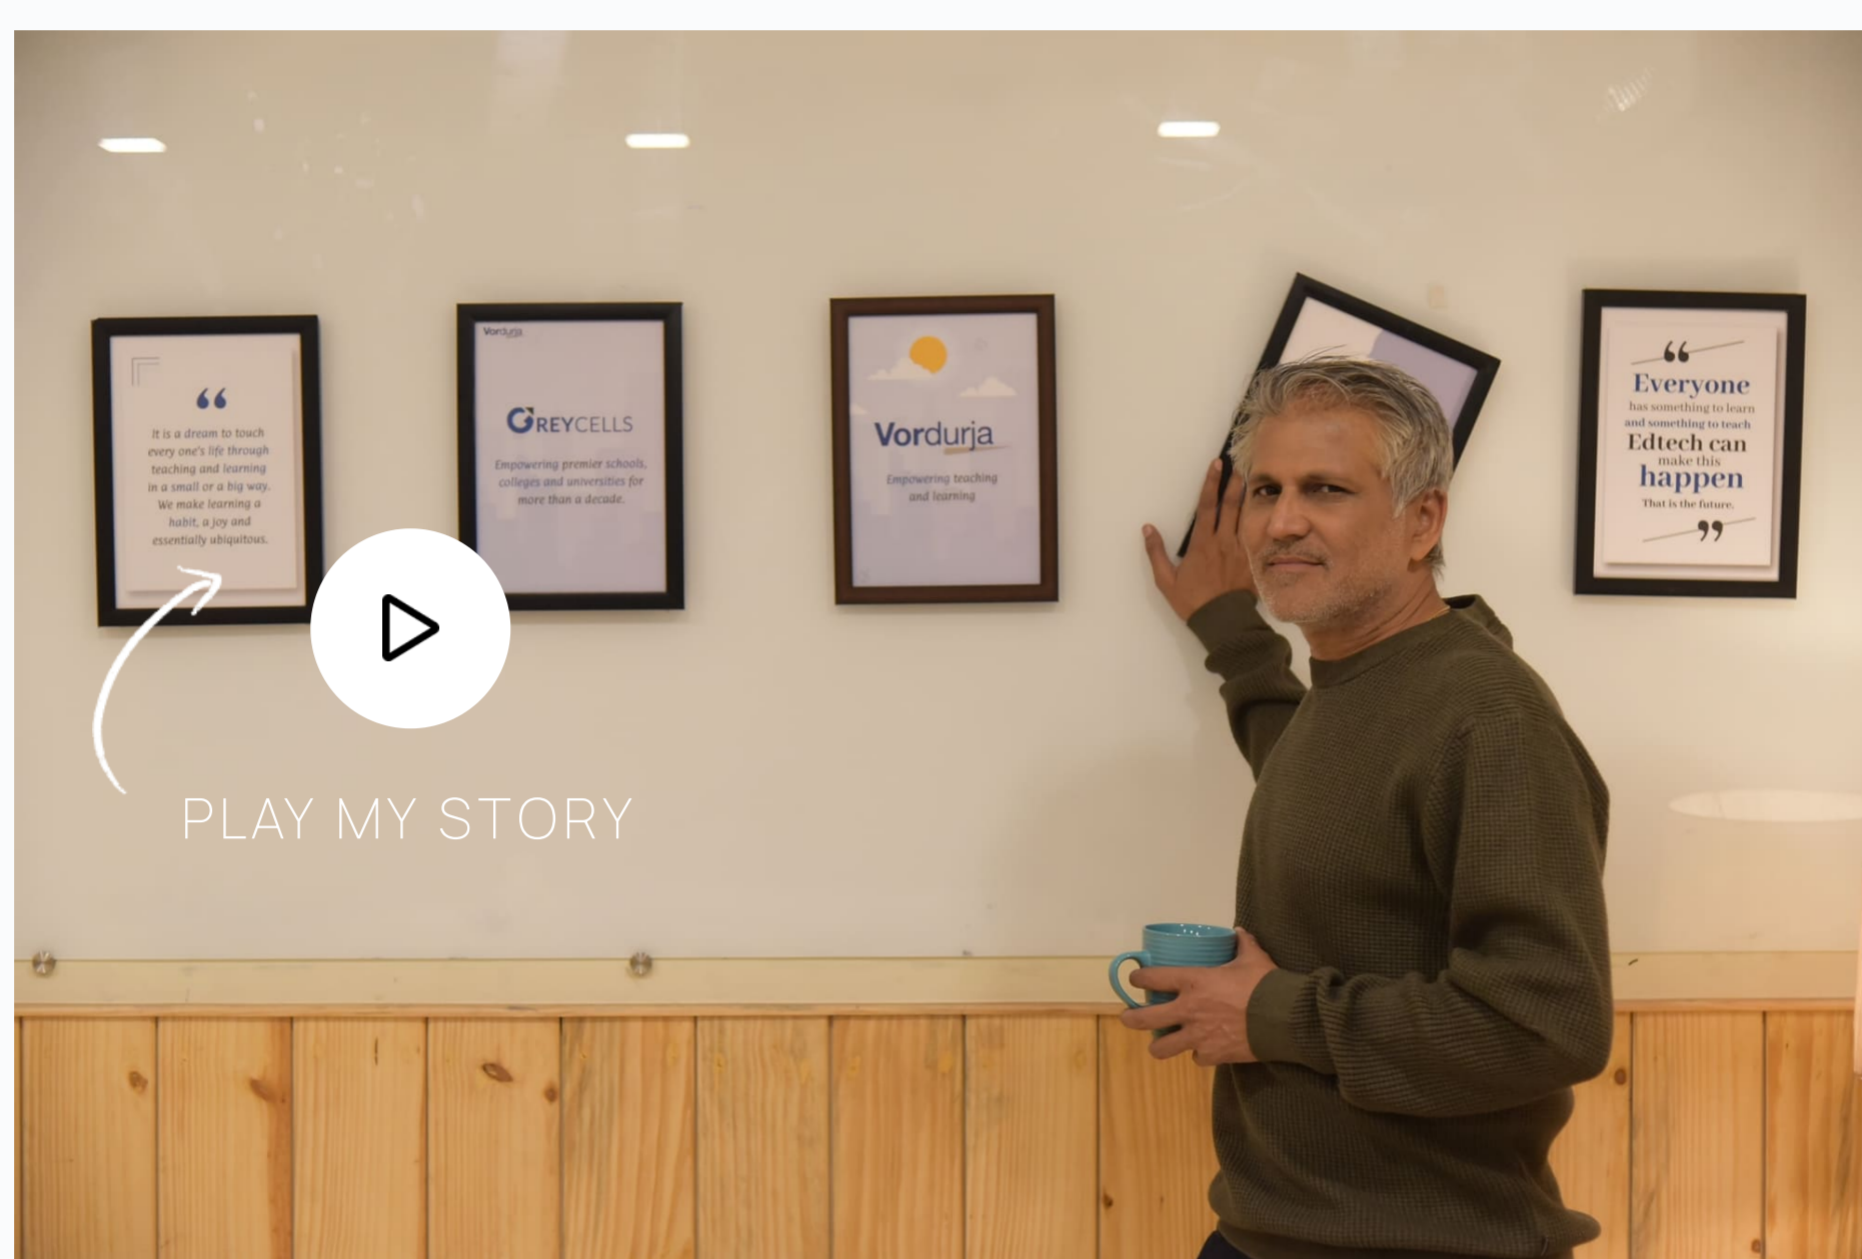

In brief - The journey and purpose so far

Srijat is the pioneer of full blown feature rich education ERPs in the country. He sowed the seeds of education ERP through e-IMS (Greycells' precursor), and has been instrumental in many premier schools and institutes maintain their edge through technology leadership. He was among the first to introduce professional consulting services into the education sector and has helped set-up universities from scratch. He envisions a society where teaching and learning are ends in themselves for sustained economic growth. Srijat believes edtech has the answers to the need for new models that can exponentially enhance the impact of education space in the society at large. He is currently leading this transformation, with Vordurja as its vehicle, and hopes to touch millions of lives in the process. Prior to becoming an entrepreneur and after passing out from IIM Calcutta, Srijat worked as a consultant and an analyst with top tier business consulting and financial advisory firms. He is committed to constantly evolving entrepreneurial landscape and actively helps young organizations navigate their journey...

VISION

Impact a billion lives

He is excited to herald the next wave of disruption in the education space. He envisions an education ecosystem where teaching and learning are in the finger-tips of one and all, irrespective of affordability and age. His dream is to constantly improve access to quality and affordable learning for students, working professionals and eager learners through innovative learning and delivery models. He sees Vordurja [link to about us page] as a forerunner of this thought of broad basing the teaching learning eco-system and hopes to inspire massive innovation and action, in the larger edtech space, that helps dissolve all barriers to teaching-learning.

ASSOCIATIONS

Leadership through innovation

In a short span of 5 years in the mid 2000s, well before the product innovation wave in the country, he was instrumental in promoting through Kalingasoft education ERPs in hundreds of schools and colleges, in expanding their edge over competition. For years, eIMS (and Greycells) have helped premier schools like Doon & Mayo to maintain their leadership in the school segment. eIMS (and Greycells) have also been used by many other premier education organizations in the country including IITs, NITs, leading private and public universities, education conglomerates. Kalingasoft has also developed and launched the online entrance exam solution in the country in 2005, well before the days of the 'cloud'.

History of success

Srijat has been instrumental in formalising the education consulting in the country. Has been involved in the setting-up of green fields private Universities and education institutes for a few years between 2008-2012.

Prior to wearing the edupreneur's hat, was involved in business consulting and financial advisory for top tier organizations like Price Waterhouse Coopers (PwC), Moody's Indian arm ICRA and A.F. Ferguson (currently a part of Deloitte). Srijat has provided business consulting and financial advisory services for top tier organizations after passing out from IIM Calcutta. Has advised many leading conglomerates during his corporate stint including TVS Group, Tatas, Mahindras, Force group (erstwhile Bajaj), Reliance and many more.
